By Jarvis Said The problem with this book is that, my copy came with a limited license software to use that, was insufficient for the purpose. Additionally, when attempting to transfer the software to an upgraded computer, the difficulties encountered made it more appealing to look for a different information source. The initial draw is to get the purchaser to buy more expensive versions of the software, a marketing tactic that has grown old and, distasteful. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great Toolbox Book! By Curtis A. Cecil If you work with any business' and have anything to do with a budget then you need this book. You won't use everything in here but the templates, CD etc... are well worth it as it will help you think through every aspect of a budget! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Valuable Information By Jamaika Jones This book really helped me in getting a better understanding of budget development for non profits. I am in the finance field for a profit organization so the accounting method is slightly different from non profit accounting. This book provided me with a step-by-step process on budget development for non profit organizations which is very simple, clear and comprehensible. Thank you.

This best-selling nuts-and-bolts workbook, now in its second edition, has become the gold standard for nonprofit managers and boards who must work through the budget cycle. The book offers practical tools and guidance for completing each step of the budgeting process. Designed to be comprehensive and easy to use, The Budget-Building Book for Nonprofits provides everything budgeters and nonfinancial managers need to prepare, approve, and implement their own budgets. Includes new chapters on Zero-Based and Capital Budgeting as well as a CD with spreadsheets, worksheets and a new budget-building software, the CMS Nonprofit Budget Builder, designed to help you implement the concepts in the book. The software includes an expandable standard chart of accounts (COA) and will aid in building, organizing, tracking and planning budgets.
