have the power to be entrepreneurs. Kim holds nothing back. This book is better than her first book. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Do not bother to read By Margaret Johnson I loved Kim's Mommy Millionaire book but this one seems to be the same stuff just worded slightly differently. Many passages felt the exact same as Mommy Millionaire. I did not finish reading it. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Nothing like Mommy Millionaire By twobooksaweek A very disappointing, poorly written rant - "manifesto" style. Give me a break. Don't waste your money. If you haven't read Lavine's first book, buy it and have a great read. This is pure slop.

It's time for a new women's revolution, but this time it's not political—it's personal. It's a time of historic opportunity. Learn what it takes to create the life of your dreams by starting your own business from your kitchen table, without compromising your job as a great mom. Find the money you need to start your business, then master the cutting-edge tools of social media to take it to the next level. With the American economy on the ropes, a New Economy is being created, and this time moms are in charge, controlling $8.5 trillion annually in consumer spending in a consumer economy that is in crisis. The rules of business are changing; master them and get rich. Learn powerful techniques to face down fear and push aside doubt, using newfound confidence to seize opportunities and get ahead. In The Mommy Manifesto, Kim Lavine—bestselling author of Mommy Millionaire—presents a provocative message of empowerment for all women, inspiring you to question the status quo and see new opportunities where none existed before. This is a manifesto for dreaming big, developing your confidence, and using your power and influence to create positive change—in yourself and our society. You're either part of the revolution, or you're part of the problem. The time is now to take control of your financial destiny! Kim Lavine, America's expert on inspirational business advice, will show you how in The Mommy Manifesto.

From the Inside Flap It's time for a new woman's revolution, but this time it's not political—it's personal. Forget the status quo; there's never been a better time to take control of your career, your life, and your economic future—starting today. With the American economy struggling, the New Economy is emerging and this time moms are in charge, controlling $8.5 trillion in annual consumer spending. Moms are not only the "new sexy" because moms are powerful and power is sexy, but moms are also the "new geeks," as the top early adopters of the new technologies that are revolutionizing the world. The time has come to redefine this mom thing and it doesn't involve guilt, how thin you are, what kind of car you drive, or how clean and well-decorated your house is. Learn how to kick fear to the curb and take your share of success. Turn off your insecurities and discover the secret to getting what you want from life, and getting other people to help you get it. In the New Economy, power is transferring from the hands of the few to the hands of the many, and the barriers to entry into the world of business are falling in epic ways. Economic sustainability is the newest social cause and women are its architects, rewriting the way business gets done while simultaneously driving product innovation that is creating billions of dollars of opportunity in an economy in dire need of transformation. At the same time, the new tools of social media are giving women the ability to communicate with each other across the world in real time. The Mommy Manifesto will show you how to master these new technologies to take your personal life and your business to the next level. In the New Economy, you're either part of the revolution or part of the problem. Now is the time to take control of your financial destiny! The Mommy Manifesto will show you how.
